Dear Friends,

The past couple of years have been a period of intense action and reflection. We have seen a global pandemic, geopolitical tensions, supply chain disruptions, the rise of cryptocurrency, and many other public and private upheavals. As the dust settles and a clearer picture of the world emerges, we stand at the threshold of great opportunity and growth. Recent events have accelerated digital adoption, spotlighted supply chain resilience and added urgency to the sustainability imperative. Each of these represents an opportunity that can contribute towards the growth of your company and the ecosystem as a whole.

As an organisation, diversity and inclusion must be established so that each talent's potential is utilised to the maximum. To be priceless to society, we must produce some path-breaking tangible results.

This year we aim to make steady growth towards delivery, understanding our client's requirements and delivering solutions on time with precision. We will navigate through these uncertain times with your unfailing support and hard work.

In the last downturn, Kale's customer-centric philosophy and modular organisation structure allowed it to work closely with customers and be agile in responding to their needs and reacting to events on the ground. Today, thanks to the differentiated capabilities that our company steadily invested in building up over the last decade, and the innovative, business-centric solutions it is called upon by its customers to provide today, it is even more deeply embedded in their businesses. It is central to their growth and transformation initiatives.

Ultimately, the future of Kale Logistics Solutions depends on our people, so we have to work as One Team. So, let our motto be "One Team, One Dream".

Let us take a moment to examine ourselves and prepare a resolution on how we can be better than the best this year. Start right Now.

Wishing you all a successful New Year!

Rajesh Panicker
Director

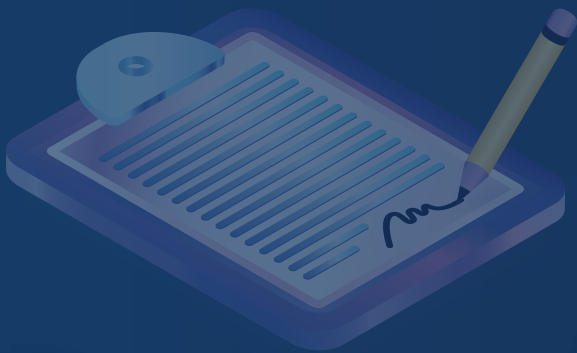

"Individual commitment to a group effort—that is what makes a team work, a company work, a society work, a civilisation work."

Vince Lombardi

Teamwork, in the end is working together for a shared dream. It creates a powerful and efficient working environment where we learn and innovate faster and are far more cohesive. Kale works as a big family; being a family, our dreams often cross paths. Having the same dream makes our vision more precise and robust, and our goals are always achievable.

This edition of the GO theme goes along these lines, celebrating our spirit for one team working towards its Dream!

Over-the-air electricity: The future of charging devices

Wireless electricity is a revolutionary technological breakthrough that opens up a world of possibilities. It's a form of alternative energy that can help us conserve resources by eliminating the need for plugins. It's similar to Wi-Fi networks, as you can connect to the power without tangling up cables. It's an ancient science that has been neglected for nearly a century.

Cordless electricity is a technology that uses the earth to transmit power. You can send a signal, and your phone will power itself when it detects it. The same goes for other devices. If they are close to the charger, they will automatically charge themselves as long as they are within the same range.

Advantages:

- It is commonly used in powering handheld devices and medical devices.
- It's low profile, and you don't need to plug it into a wall outlet to use it. It also eliminates wear and tear on your devices, which means fewer batteries and fewer maintenance costs.
- Whether you use your mobile to watch videos or work on the computer, this type of charging is a great way to stay productive while avoiding clutter. Besides being convenient, it is also safe and secure.

Wireless future

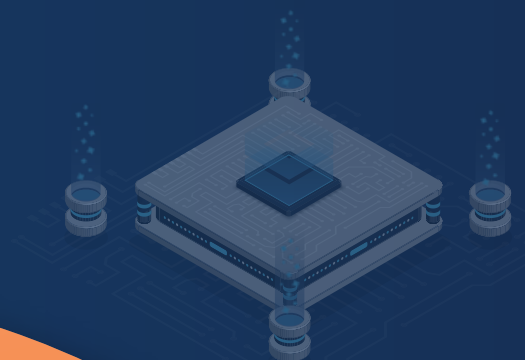

Wireless electricity will keep all-electric appliances on. The device will convert power into a magnetic field and sail through the air to another device. Not only will this save money, but it will also be safer for the environment, as it will eliminate battery use. It could also make rooms and environments clutter-free and significantly reduce the risk of fires.

According to the Nobel Prize-winning scientist Reza Zekavat, the Japanese government is prepared to spend $21 billion to install solar power in space. The Space Solar Power Systems would sit 36,000 km above the earth and send back energy via a laser beam.

A wireless electricity-based power grid can run an entire household, charging all battery-operated devices worldwide. However, this technology has its downsides. The main problem with this technology is the efficiency of the transmission. As the distance between two points increases, the efficiency of the wireless connection diminishes dramatically.

As the popularity of smartphones and tablets increases, the future of wireless charging looks promising. Shortly, this technology could even be used to charge street lamps. Ultimately, it will be the way of the automotive industry. As electric vehicles are becoming increasingly common, it can also charge a car's battery via cordless technology. This technology can be used for almost anything and will continue to grow. The first step is to make the technology more widely available.

Books don't just expand your concentration and your vocabulary; it gives you wings for dreams. Edward Agnel is one person who has been an ardent reader since his childhood, as his mother introduced him to this beautiful world of magic.

A dream sometimes lits your passion and fires it to expand, making you courageous enough to take a less travelled road. Edward is from a family of varied talents who always encouraged him to follow his dream. He has done everything from being a lead guitarist in his college band to sketching, painting, story writing, and animation. Name anything, and he has tried his hand at it.

Once people finish college and enter the corporate world, they usually cannot pursue their hobbies, but not Edward. His artistic side never left his side. He aptly balanced both worlds. He started working as an assistant director during weekends. Meanwhile, he dusted his storytelling skills and began writing stories, and with his persistence, one day, lady luck suddenly smiled, and one of his story's copyrights was sold and used to create a movie. You can watch a movie- Phobia, and watch his talent unfold. He enjoys writing psychological thrillers.

Edward is a fine specimen of not letting your dream down and working extra hard to keep them alive. He has been exploring his varied interests since childhood, which has paid off well for him. Shortly, his directorial debut will be released. He has directed a Kannada movie which will hit the theatre soon.

He enthusiastically walks towards his goal and plans to direct one of his stories under his banner shortly. He believes his dreams aren't beyond the stars.

Kudos to Edward for his never say never spirit.

GO wishes him a bright future!

No-1 Strive to be more than number one—strive to be the greatest number one.

No-2 The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall.

No-3 As soon as you open your mind to doing things differently, the doors of opportunity practically fly off their hinges.

No-4 Perfection is achieved, not when there is nothing more to add, but when there is nothing left to take away.

No-5 Unless commitment is made, there are only promises and hopes; but no plans.

No-6 Your time is limited, so don't waste it living someone else's life..

No-7 The mind that opens to a new idea never returns to its original size.

No-8 Be moderate in order to taste the joys of life in abundance.

No-9 One cool judgment is worth a thousand hasty counsels.
